

Bio Brief - Short Form
November 2014

CHARLES R. "CHUCK" DAVOLI

Attorney at Law and managing partner of Davoli, Krumholt & Price, of counsel with Moore, Thompson, & Lee of Baton Rouge, Louisiana. He also owns and operates Charles Davoli, LLC, workers' compensation mediation, subscription, consultation and training services. He has mediated over 800 workers' comp. related cases in past seven years, and he provides a monthly report in Louisiana of jurisprudential and legislative developments.

Chuck, as a former union steelworker, has served as a labor representative on the Louisiana Governor's Workers' Compensation Advisory Council for the past 11 years, serves on its' five person Executive Advisory Committee, and Chairs or is a member of various working task forces of the Council; including, currently serving as Chairman for a new Workplace Safety Task Force. He is also a past co-chair for the Louisiana "Kid's Chance" scholarship program administered by the Louisiana Bar Foundation. He is a past chairman for six years for the Legal Services for Persons with Disabilities Committee for the Louisiana State Bar Association, and past member of the Access to Justice Committee. From 1996-2010 he served as Chairperson of the Louisiana Disabled Workers Network (DAWN), and was the CLE Chair for the Louisiana Workers' Advocates (LWA) organization, a State WILG chapter member. He currently serves as Coordinator of the Louisiana Citizens Against Reducing Employee Rights (CARE-R), a coalition of medical providers, organized labor, and the workers' compensation trial bar. In 2009 he was appointed by Chief Justice Kimball as a Labor representative to the Louisiana Supreme Court's Ad Hoc Committee to Study Perceptions of Louisiana's Legal System. He is a past chairman of the workers' compensation sections for the Baton Rouge Bar Association and the Louisiana Association for Justice. He is a benefactor member of WILG and serves on its Executive Committee as Immediate Past-President for 2015. He is a frequent lecturer on Louisiana Workers' Compensation law and issues, and represents the AFL-CIO and injured workers in legislative deliberations related to workers compensation.

Prior to obtaining his law degree at Louisiana State University, he served as Director of Criminal Justice Planning & Budgeting in the states of Florida and Michigan, and served as Assistant Secretary for the Louisiana Department of Corrections and Public Safety. He also holds a BA degree in Psychology and a MS degree in Criminology & Corrections, and obtained certificates in Public Administration, Higher Education, and Law Enforcement Administration. He is a former instructor at Louisiana State University and Southeastern Louisiana University, and was Manager of Security for Marathon Petroleum Company in Garyville, Louisiana. He has been recognized for outstanding achievements as a practicing attorney by the Louisiana State Bar Association, Baton Rouge Bar Association, WILG, Louisiana Disabled Workers' Network, the AFL-CIO, LexisNexis, and most recently was inducted as a Fellow in the National College of Workers' Compensation Lawyers and as a member of the National Academy of Social Insurance (NASI).

crd